

Join us at the Northern Great Lakes Visitor Center, 2 miles west of Ashland

Watch a young bird develop and learn to fly. Then explore the world with different flocks and see what they see as the film migrates with them on their cross-continental journeys.

Guided tours will be given at 8am and 10am. All ages and skill levels welcome; from fledgling birders to advanced enthusiasts looking to add a new bird to their life list. Pick the walk that best meets your needs to see and learn about different resident birds and ones traveling through.

Learn different warbler calls and take a guided walk to find different warblers in the area.

Build a nesting shelf for robins and phoebes or a house for blue-birds. Instructions for other houses will also be available.

Learn about what attracts different wildlife around the center and gardening tips for your own backyard.

Meet and learn about American Kestrels with the visitor center's special employee, Gaia. Center staff will have Gaia, an American kestrel, out during the day for anyone interested to learn more about her and other birds of prey.

Cost: $10.00 for boat and program fees; $5.00 if you bring your own kayak or canoe. Please pre-register with Cathy at 685-2671. Further information will be sent out to participants who have registered.
